

Rifle chatter

Members of "B" Squadron, B.C. Dragoons Military Rifle Association held their annual meeting over the week-end, there being a good attendance of rifleman present.

President R. S. Weeks presented a full report of the past year's activities showing local rifleman to have had their full share of trophies under severe competition. Club treasurer, Gordon L. McKay, reported finances in good shape.

A constitution was adopted, and plans for the new year were discussed particularly with regard to training the younger members in the art of rifle shooting. Efficient handling of firearms is only acquired through careful training.

With retiring captain R. S. Weeks, and secretary-treasurer G. B. McKay both declining a further term, the officers elected for the coming year were: President and vice-president, the officer commanding and his second-in-command, "B" Squadron, B.C. Dragoons; captain C. W. Henderson; vice-captain, G. N. Kennedy; hon. secretary-treasurer, C. R. Lee; range officer, G. N. Kennedy; Deputy R.O., R. S. Weeks; ammunition officer, D. Hill; records and publicity, C. R. Lee. Also appointed to the executive were: Glenda Hill, P. McCallum, J. R. Conway, G. McKay, W. Franko, and H. Henderson.

No date was set for the opening practice shoot, this event being pretty much in the hands of the weatherman.

Peachland curlers in finals

The Peachland high school boys curling rink romped to an easy win in interior play in Kamloops over the weekend, when they defeated Vernon two straight in a two out of three series.

Prince George failed to show up for their games.

The rink of Allen McKinnon, skip; Don Cousins, third; George Topham, Jr., second; and Ronnie Kraft, lead, won the zone championship from Summerland in last week-end's play, and will move to Kelowna this week-end to play for the provincial championship.

Rinks from Duncan and Trail will meet the Peachland rink in a round-robin tourney to decide the B.C. winner, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Following their win in Kamloops, the boys received curling hats, brooms, and cardigans, and were treated to a club banquet by the curling club. The team is being sponsored by McKenzie, White and Dunsmuir.

RE-ENGAGE POUNDKEEPER

C. P. Elson has been re-engaged by the city as poundkeeper. Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Elson will be paid on a monthly basis of $150, providing sufficient licence fees are collected to pay this amount. There are other technical details in the contract. Both parties can cancel the agreement upon one month's notice.

H-BOMB MENACE

"If we found that our children were letting off fireworks near a blasting shed stored with dynamite and thus endangering life and property we would not hesitate to put and end to their so-called fun. Why then, should we allow adults to play with 'nuclear fireworks' that might endanger the whole of humanity."

B.C. high school curling playoffs start Saturday

The Peachland high school boys' curling rink, winners in interior play in Kamloops last week-end, will be going against teams from Duncan and Trail in Kelowna this week-end, starting Saturday at 10 a.m., for the provincial championships.

The rink of Allen McKinnon, skip; Don Cousins, third; George Topham, Jr., second; and Ronnie Kraft, lead, won the zone championship from Summerland two weeks ago, and took the interior championship last week in a two game straight win over Vernon, when Prince George failed to show for the round-robin tourney.

Following their win in Kamloops, the boys received curling hats, brooms, and cardigans, and were treated to a club banquet by the curling club. They are being sponsored by McKenzie, White and Dunsmuir.

The Kelowna tournament to decide the B.C. champion, will be a round-robin tournament, lasting as long as is necessary to get the games.

Vernon and Kelowna squads raise $500 for injured players' fund

The Kelowna Crackers' hockey (2) team took the Vernon Vee (vets) 3-0 in an exhibition game in Vernon Arena on Wednesday, but the Vernon team will definitely protest the game on the grounds that the goal stick used by "Moe" Moss in the Kelowna goal was over-size.

A return match will be played between periods in next Wednesday's Kelowna-Vernon league game.

The game between the Vernon and Kelowna hockey executives took place between the second and third periods of an exhibition game for the two teams' injured player fund, which ended in a 0-6 draw.

Between the first and second periods, the Kinsmen and the Hotelmen battled it out to a 1-0 win for the Kinsmen in a thrilling broomball donnybrook.

HAISEN'S $500

The $500 raised by the exhibition will go to the players' fund, half to each club. Each club donated $25 to the fund being raised by the people of Grinard to build a swimming pool for the children.

The program draw prize, advertised over the P.A. system as being worth well over $100, turned out to be a large packing case, which was brought out on the ice on the back of a light delivery truck.

E. W. Prowse, a Vernon chiropractor, won the prize, and was led over to the case by MC Don Warner, who opened the door, and a young lady in an attractive ski-suit popped out.

CARNIVAL SPIRIT

The whole evening was in a gala carnival spirit, with the senior teams using forwards as defence men, and putting on a real show for the fans.

In the final period of the game, Joe Kinsler directed the push for Kelowna, and Don McLeod for Vernon. Dave Gathrum, Kelowna goalie, came out as a forward and scored a goal, much to his evident delight.

Hal Gordon, Vernon net-minder, came out with a miner's helmet and a long white beard, and tried hard to duplicate Gathrum's effort, but couldn't get by Kinsler.

Moss' goal stick, the one complained about, was a stick presented to Percy Davidson, Kelowna team manager, for earning three shut-outs in a row in commercial hockey a few years ago. Made by the millworkers for Mr. Davidson, it has a blade at least two feet deep, about four feet long, and covered about half the goal area.

New Zealand diary

These impressions of New Zealand are taken from the diary of C. S. Butcher, presently visiting his sister in Woodville, population, 1,050, on the north island, some 354 miles south of Auckland.

Mr. Butcher's intentions are to see the sights and get in some hunting and fishing, while his son Bruce, well-known Kelowna carman plans to get in some training while over there.

At the request of the Courier, Mr. Butcher will send more impressions of his winter trip in the summer land "down under".

Contrary to what most people in Canada think about the weather in New Zealand, it can be cold and damp enough in the middle of summer to warrant central heating—if such a thing were available, says Mr. Butcher in his diary.

Currently visiting with his sister in Woodville, he and Bruce are on the southern end of the North Island, in the place where the island narrows down to a point. The town is situated between the ranges of mountains that run down the east and west coasts.

To reach Woodville they had to travel by train from Auckland where their first stop, the S. S. Oranby, landed on Dec. 23, after an 18-day crossing.

NARROW GAUGE

One of the first things they noticed about the trains was the fact that they were narrow gauge, tiny, and quite different in lay-out from our own, following the English pattern of coaches.

Being holiday time, it was difficult to obtain seats, and when they did obtain them, they were second-class, and in different coaches. There was no business first-class, as in our own country, each passenger being required to produce a seat ticket.

The train travelled swiftly, but was noisy and rough, with the hard red leather seats a far cry from our own foam rubber cushioned ones. The New Zealanders showed they were prepared for the seats by renting pillows from the station-stands.

At lunch-counter stops, the main diet seemed to be tea, toast and cookies, with no pie in sight. People would wander back on board the train with tea-cups in their hand, to have them collected later by railway employees.

They arrived in Woodville at 10.30 in the morning, the 354-mile journey from Auckland having been completed at an average speed of 22 m. p. h.

Their hosts in Woodville live in an old-fashioned house of one-storey construction, on a paved highway one mile from the station. The high-ceilinged house is furnished with comfortable furniture that is also old-fashioned by Canadian standards, and is only heated by fireplaces in some rooms.

Food is served English-style, with tea served six times per day, a welcome addition to their day, since they found themselves chilled and damp a good deal of the time, especially in the early morning.

Saturday is a holiday in New Zealand, they found, with all businesses except cafes, gas stations, hotels, etc., closing for the entire day. The exceptions to this are seaside resorts, which cater to week-end traffic, and observe Wednesday half-day the same as we do here.

Christmas was celebrated differently than here, with less decorations, festivity, and fewer turkey dinners. A great number of people went out in the country for a picnic on that day.

On Boxing Day, two young neighbors who had met Bruce at a Christmas night party, came to take them hunting, at a distance of some 25 miles from the town.

The driver took them into mountainous country, covered with dense, jungle growth—brush, weeds, vines and singing noddies that is almost impossible to push through.

PLENTY OF DEER

There were plenty of deer—red with slim necks and heads and finer, shorter legs than the Okanagan—but they were practically impossible to see and harder to shoot in the dense growth.

Bruce and one of the young hunting hosts managed to get a small buck apiece, and carried out their meat on their shoulders, struggling through the dense underbrush, and coming out twenty, tired and well stung with nettles.

The meat of these deer smells very strong, due to the rank green feed, and Bruce said it was the toughest hunt he was ever on to push through.

They tried their hand at trout fly-fishing, with no success, in spite of using a number of flies.

Mr. Butcher lost interest in fishing, in favor of a cemetery, which impressed him with its massive headstones, and solid cement boxes enclosing the graves. The newer ones had been fashioned of tinted cement, and the effect was eye-catching, with its pastel shades, light blues, and creams.

Teddy Bears drop another hoop fixture

Penticton Kenco's playing without their star, Adelo Herbert, didn't let it worry them too much on Friday night, as they handed Kelowna McKie Teddy Bears a 31-26 loss on Friday night at Penticton.

The loss was Kelowna's fourth in sixth league games.

The Kelowna girls missed their shots and showed particular weakness on the free throw line with 19 misses in 29 tries. Penticton missed 20 free throws and hit the hoop

Forty-three fouls were whistled by the officials in a game that resembled more of a football scrimmage than a basketball game. Kelowna was called for 23 fouls and Penticton for 20. Melhuus and Field, foul-out of the game for Kelowna.

This Thursday night Kelowna will host the Vernon Lakettes.

Kelowna will have at least three representatives competing in judo tourney slated for Vernon Feb. 18

There will be at least three representatives from the Kelowna Judo Club in the Pacific North West Judo Tournament to be held in the Vernon High School auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 18, all three of them holders of the Black Belt in the sport.

The three, Nobuy Ikesaka, Kaz Iwasaki, and the comparative newcomer to the sport, Eddie Wohl, all possess the first degree in the black belt, and should they prove to be exceptionally proficient in the tournament, may receive their second degree.

NEW TALENT

The club is presently on the lookout for new talent, and have recently moved into new quarters on Brookside Avenue, where they can accommodate many more young men than are now turning out for the tri-weekly practice nights—Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, 7-10.

There are six instructors available to those turning out, all of them holders of the Black Belt, and they give their time free, instructing in this purely amateur sport.

The seven belts of judo are: white, yellow, orange, green, blue, brown and black. To attain the black belt the "judo-ka" (as the judo participant is known), a brown belt holder, must prove that he has the proper moral fibre to attain it. The word "judo" itself means "gentle culture", and the judo-ka must have shown he approaches any situation with the right mind before he is considered for the belt.

Kelowna Judo Club members who have received higher belts from the head instructor, Shigeharu Nishi, are: Bill Ueda (brown belt); David Price (green belt); Jim Stewart, Jim Blake, Bill Kane, Harold Almund, and George Whittaker (orange belt);

Enquiries about membership may be made at the club quarters any practice night.

Biggest year in oil exploration

Oil and gas exploration by Imperial Oil will be carried on at an even faster pace in 1956 than in previous years and their area of search for oil includes Ontario, Quebec and maritimes as well as Alberta, where this rig is in operation. The company plans to spend $115,000,000 this year in a three-fold expansion program including exploration, product improvement and refinery building. It will be the largest year's outlay in the company's history and will bring the total 1950-56 outlay to $660,000,000.

Apple holdings 2,017,474 boxes, says Lander after giving resume of markets

As of January 7, total holdings of varieties of apples totalled 2,017,474 boxes, J. B. Lander, general sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits, stated in a supplementary report to the BCFGA last week.

Mr. Lander disclosed that McIntosh apple sales to the prairies, Eastern Canada and United Kingdom are equivalent to last year. "It is in Eastern Canada that we are feeling the loss of business," he declared.

"To be anywhere near competitive and obtain any volume, we would have to quote our apples at approximately $1.25 per box, FOB shipping point."

Mr. Lander continued: "In the fruit business, changes take place very rapidly, and it is for that reason that I waited to obtain the figures which I shall now give you."

"McIntosh shipments to January 14th:

Western Canada—1955 1,038,597 1954 1,081,927

Eastern Canada—12,896 112,936

United States—260,331 249,470

United Kingdom—156,234 144,807

Sweden—600

leaving on hand, as at January 14, 434,000.

"McIntosh sales to the prairies, the United States and the United Kingdom, the equivalent of last year, it is in Eastern Canada that we are feeling the loss of business. To be anywhere near competitive there, and obtain any volume, we would have to quote our apples at approximately $1.25 per box, FOB shipping point."

APPLE DISTRIBUTION

"The following are the areas in which we sold our apples:

Western Canada 1,450,846

Eastern Canada 92,612

United States 767,457

United Kingdom 652,066

Other Areas 10,538

"In Eastern Canada, the reduction is approximately 100,000 boxes, and a minor decrease in Western Canada, also a slight decrease in the United States. Off-shore and the United Kingdom show an increase.

"Deducting the above sales and cannery sales, from our total crop figures, our holdings at January 7, were 2,017,474 boxes, consisting of the following varieties:

McIntosh 486,071

Delicious 211,300

Red Delicious 305,500

Rome 148,500

Staymans 59,358

Newtowns 250,068

Winaples 544,754

Other Apples 11,928

"In my report, it was made to the BCFGA that the McIntosh crop was sold in the United States, and that we shall do. A few years ago we sold a considerable volume of our McIntosh in the territory where they grow them there. Now the Eastern United States McIntosh grower has taken steps to improve his cultural practices, and institute better packing methods, and in some instances, erected controlled atmosphere storages, in an endeavor to recapture this territory for himself. Of course, we are placed at a disadvantage with approximately $1.00 a box freight against us.

"That's just our position in Eastern Canada as well. Unless the crops in the east are reduced through climatic conditions, or some other unforeseen disaster, the competitive condition will become worse and worse each year. Plantings are above normal, and considering that they have not had any appreciable amount of tree mortality since 1934, their tonnage will continue to increase.

"The monthly apple storage figures have been received, and the holdings in the United States, as of January 1st, are only 344,085 bushels over last year; the Canadian holdings show an increase of 1,340,000 bushels.

"In Yakima and Wenatchee, on January 1, the combined storage holdings were 3,227 cars heavier than at the same date last year.

"In my report, you will observe, the United Kingdom sales are shown by variety. To refresh, we have sold more McIntosh to the United Kingdom than last year—100,234 boxes, compared with 144,807 last year; this in the face of Nova Scotia competition; they priced their McIntosh at $2.25 L.S. plus 90¢ freight, delivering to the United Kingdom at $3.15 (C2/FB). This is for shillings about 80¢ less than ours, and their box is one-eighth of a bushel larger. Nova Scotia sold 100,000 boxes.

News and views of Scouting

By DES OSWELL, DISTRICT SCOUTER

CONSERVATION

By this date every Scoutmaster and Cubmaster in the district should have in his hands the copy of the new Scout-Cub theme "Conservation". The plan will go into effect on April 8 and so organization should take place as soon as possible. If any leaders have not got a copy of the conservation booklet, would they advise either the district cubmaster or the district scoutmaster and arrangements will be made to get you a copy if you have been missed.

SPECIAL VISITORS

You will not doubt have read in the B.C. & Yukon Signpost that the Deputy Chief Scout of Canada, Mr. Jackson Dods, O.B.E., will be coming to Princeton on Wednesday, February 1st. Note its Princeton not Penitence! If any leaders or enough leaders are interested in going to hear Mr. Dods, would you contact either the District Scoutmaster or the District Cubmaster.

It should also be noted that John Thurman, Camp Chief of Gilwell Park, in England, will be going to Vernon in March. I am sure a lot of you have read some of Mr. Thurman's books and would like to meet him in person. Here is your chance.

On Friday, January 27, the First Okanagan Mission Group Committee is sponsoring a card party at the Okanagan Mission Community Hall, at 8 p.m. I hope that a large number turn out for this affair, as all proceeds will go to furthering the new Okanagan Mission Scout Hall.

GOING OUTDOORS

It would appear to me that we more and more are becoming an indoor movement during the winter months. Hikes and overnight camps seem to fade away until the spring. To me we are losing out on a great part of Scouting. I sometimes think that we lay too much emphasis on one or two parts of Scouting and seem to let the rest of the program backslide. Are we not trying within the Scout program, to teach boys to enjoy the outdoors and at the same time show them how to look after themselves in the woods? If we are not, we should be. If a person gets lost in the woods, he can't always guarantee that it will be during a time when there is no snow and it isn't cold. Then why are we dodging the winter months. Let us give the Scouts some experience in winter camping and show them how to overcome some of the hazards of the winter. Some troops, I know, are doing this but should not be doing this in some degree.

A person is only as good a woodsman as his knowledge allows him to be.

GET-TOGETHER

As each Wolf Cub Pack and each Scout Troop gets stronger and more active they tend to lose contact with the other Packs and Troops in the district and become a unit unto themselves. There is nothing wrong basically with this thought but a note to remember is that each Wolf Cub Pack and each Scout Troop is a part of the "Great Game" which is known as Scouting. Thus in my way of thinking we should see more Packs and Troops getting together for an evening of competition and games. Right now, in a lot of ways, we are strangers to each other. Packs and Troops. How about working a change in here somewhere. It could be a lot of fun.

CAMPFIRE FILM

This year's Troop Pack or Group Committee seen the last year's Scout Annual District Campfire Film? If you have not, then why not lay some plans for its showing during Scout Week or some other appropriate time.

Good Scouting and Good Cubbing.

Okanagan Valley music festival syllabus CARS planning slated for Vernon May 3-9, now available valentine party on February 14

Syllabus for the thirtieth annual Okanagan Valley Music Festival, to be held in Vernon on May 3 to 9, is now out, carrying details regarding the adjudicators, the various classes and the entry fees.

Beginning this year on a Thursday, the events run through the week until the following Wednesday. There are a total of 205 different classes with 29 different trophies and cups being offered to winners in various events. All are musical events this year, either instrumental, vocal, or dancing. In solo or group ensembles. Original composition is included to encourage young composers.

ADJUDICATORS Adjudicating the dancing will be Mrs. McBriney of the Mary McBriney Ballet School in Vancouver. Well known to Okanagan Festivals, Miss McBriney will judge all classes of tap, ballet, and national dances.

In the musical field, particularly vocal, Dr. Haylock Nelson brings with him a wealth of knowledge and experience gained in Ireland at the Dublin University where he graduated in arts, science, philosophy, and music, and from the Royal Irish Academy of Music where he studied. He conducted the Dublin Orchestral Players and the Radio Eireann Symphony Orchestra for a time.

From 1941 to 1947 he served in the Royal Air Force later joining the BBC music staff in Northern Ireland where his duties included accompanying, composing, and conducting incidental music for radio plays and special features.

Dr. Nelson is, at present, an examiner in music to the ministry of education in Northern Ireland. He is conductor of the Studio String Orchestra, the Studio Opera Group, and the famous Irish Choir, the Ulster Singers.

Assisting with the instrumental numbers will be Dr. Leon Forrester, F.R.C.O., who is a graduate from the University of Manchester in music, as well as being a solo pianist, pianist and organ. He is a composer of music for chorus, organ, piano, strings and orchestra and has been conductor of operatic societies. He served for four years with the Royal Air Force from 1941 to 1945 and has been organizer of the Canadian Parthian and Market-Dayton Parish Churches.

COMPOSER In last Saturday's edition of the Kelowna Couriers, three UBC students from Kelowna were asked to write a "popular opinion" type of feature story in which carried the opinions of nine teenagers from the varsity campus.

Linda Ghezzi, who is interested primarily in music and sports expressed her interest in the athletic type. She says she's got to be rugged and tall and have similar interests. Miles Treadgold also stressed the similar interests but he wants his girl to have "oodles of charm and personality" and at the same time to be intelligent.

Dale Gregory wants his girl to be intelligent, too, and good looking with charm. Other facts brought out in the survey showed that a boy doesn't have to have a car or money but he must have a sense of humor, while a girl doesn't necessarily have to be a cover girl but brains are important. Girls, it revealed, expect little favors from a boy, such as helping her on with her coat or opening the doors for her.

Local Kinettes review active year

Miss Eva Webb spoke to the Kelowna Kinettes Club on "Children's Books" last Monday evening when the ladies met in the Yacht Club for their first meeting of the year.

In reviewing their accomplishments over the past four months, the Kinettes noted that their big money raising endeavor over the fall months had been their rummage sale held in October. Over Christmas the Kinettes prepared and delivered ten hampers to needy families in the Kelowna district.

However, the major project undertaken by the club has been the equipping of the kitchen at Sunnyvale Centre. To date they have purchased a cottage style electric range and held a kitchen shower in conjunction with one of their meetings. Plans are now being formulated to paint the kitchen and to put up curtains when the school is ready for use.

Activities for the coming months included handling the banquet for the Teen Town conference to be held in Kelowna on February 18 and 19; On Saturday, March 17, the Kinettes are planning a spring tea and children's fashion show to be held in the United Church hall, with Mrs. George Athans convening the show and Mrs. J. G. Kerr taking charge of the tea.

By the end of June, the club will have made up and handed over to welfare six complete layettes.

Members were reminded of the next meeting, Wednesday, February 8, 7:30 p.m. at the Health Centre.

LET'S EAT

"A man who appreciates good food," I was telling the Chef, "once said to me, 'Dinner without dessert is like a shirt without a tail.'"

"Ah, that's the truth," chuckled the Chef.

When a person appreciates a dessert, a touch of sweetness as the finale of a good dinner. However, the right kind should be chosen, one that harmonizes with the general nature of the meal.

WITH A HOMEY MEAL If it is a homey meal, featuring corned beef and cabbage, dessert should be homey, too. For example stewed fruit, hot doughnuts or apple would be suitable. But if dinner features more elegant food such as Roast Cornish game hen or filet mignon, the dessert should be in what I call the same social class. Dainty chiffon tarts, a Bavarian cream, mixed fresh fruit cup with sherbet or an angel cake and frozen strawberry loaf with whipped cream would add the right note.

"And here's a good tip. Desserts following a main course of fish taste more appealing when based on fruit. Also, if the main course has been rich and spicy, the dessert should present a flavor contrast, be delicate in flavor—such as floating island or gelatin whip.

BEST DESSERT However, I believe simple fruit desserts are often best of all. Chef, for they combine fruit with a reasonable amount of sugar. A fruit and nut bowl is always suitable, too."

"And there is the favorite French dessert which is always appropriate, Madame," he replied. "A basket of red apple or juicy pears, with or without a little cheese, make a fine palate parfait."

TOMORROW'S DINNER Hot Vegetable Juice Crisp Celery Bake-Fried Veal Chops Lemon Wedges Baked-Creamed Potatoes Buttered Beets Apple Meringue Pie Coffee Tea Milk All measurements are level. Recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6.

Bake-Creamed Potatoes Oil 1/2 cup, 2 pt. conserve. Combine 1 c. small-diced cooked white potatoes with 3 c. medium onion juice or celery salt. Transfer to the baking dish. Cover with 1/2 c. medium-fine enriched bread crumbs mixed with 2 tps. melted butter or margarine. Bake-brown 30 min. in a moderate oven, 375 deg. F.

Apple Meringue Pie Bake 1 (9") pie shell or pastry. Then, make the filling. To do this, combine 3 c. hot sweetened thick appleauce with a blend of 2 tps. soft butter or margarine, 1 tps. grated lemon rind and 2 well-beaten egg yolks. Beat the 2 egg whites stiff, gradually add 2 tps. sugar and 1/2 tps. lemon juice. Heap over the pie. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F. for 15-20 min.

TRICK OF THE CHEF Before bake-trying veal chops, first rub with French dressing seasoned with oregano.

Mission people honor Mrs. Julia Favell

OKANAGAN MISSION—An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barber on Saturday, when close to fifty relatives and friends gathered to celebrate the 93rd birthday of Mrs. Julia Favell, Mrs. Barber's mother. Also present were Mrs. Favell's other daughters, Mrs. Clarence Favell of the Mission and Mrs. Polly Dobranski, of Vancouver.

During the evening, Mrs. Florence Fagan, of Kelowna, sang some of her own compositions, accompanied by her son, Colin Fagan. Dancing followed after which Mrs. Favell opened her many lovely gifts. The birthday cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Barber, was then brought in and all present joined in singing "Happy Birthday."

Cooking course organized for immigrants
CALGARY (CP) — Believed the first of its kind in Canada, a course has been organized here to help immigrants to cook in Canadian style.
A young Belgian woman tasting sweet potatoes for the first time said: "Oh, these North Americans! They put sugar in everything!"
Another European bride was flabbergasted by corn—the kind that grows in the garden. "People eat corn here?" she asked. "At home only the pigs and chickens eat the corn." She had never seen the canned variety.
The 15-week course in food is sponsored by the city recreation division with the help of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, a free company and a grocery chain. Classes are free but each will be limited to 15 persons.
Among the things to be taught will be the difference between European and Canadian weights and measures; the value of nutrition and how to prepare well-balanced meals; how to cook Canadian foods the Canadian way to make the most of their mineral and vitamin content; how to shop economically; and how to budget for food and store it.
Brand names mean little to the newcomers and quantities are a puzzle because of the difference in measurements.
Most of the newcomers find their main trouble is in buying meat.
"In Europe we go to a special meat store to buy meat," said one. "We hang up and just ask for a slice off this side or that. We are not accustomed to seeing meat all cut up and packaged like it is here."
TROUBLE WITH PIES
The girl from Belgium, admitted that she had difficulty with pies. "Yes," she laughed, "I did not even know how to make those marks around the edge of the pie crust. My husband had to show me with his thumb."
One young wife said she found it funny at first that Canadians drank tea and coffee with their meals. The "with-meal" beverage at home was beer, but the young found the practice too expensive in Canada.
An Austrian girl said she had never heard of fruit juice at home.

Need for closer liaison between council and school board expressed by alderman

Need for better public relations between city council and the school board was expressed by Ald. Dick Parkinson at this week's council meeting.

Mr. Parkinson thought that both bodies should have representatives at their respective meetings, "so that we can understand our mutual problems."

Mr. Parkinson thought council had co-operated in every way possible with the school board.

Ald. Maurice Meikle complained that school administration is out of the city's hands. "We can only fight a budget which we think is unfair," he remarked.

Ald. Jack Treadgold thought the council should take a more active interest in school affairs.

Although Mayor Ladd said the relationships between himself and School Board chairman C. T. Hubbard, had been excellent, he will confer with the latter to see what can be done about the matter.

Others appearing on the program are well known to Okanagan fruit growers. They include R. P. Murray, long time resident of the Okanagan Valley, and now provincial horticulturist in Victoria; Dr. James Marshall, head of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory in Summerland; Dr. D. V. Fisher of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Summerland; J. A. Smith, supervising horticulturist, Kelowna; A. C. Carter, assistant district horticulturist, Penticton; and A. D. McMechan, agricultural engineer of the Summerland science centre. The meetings are being sponsored by the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association and the Okanagan Agricultural Club.

Meetings will be held at Keremeos, Oliver-Osoyoos, Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna and Vernon.

VARIOUS TOPICS
Those appearing in group 1 will be H. Rodgers Hamilton, R. P. Murray and J. A. Smith, and these speakers will deal with quality production of fruit, considering cultural methods, maturity, harvesting, through to marketing.

Julian Olevsky to give violin recital

Connoisseurs of violins and violin music look forward to an unusual privilege on Thursday, January 31 at 8:15 p.m. when virtuoso Julian Olevsky plays one of his rare instruments at the Empress Theatre. Already the possessor of a Stardivarius, Mr. Olevsky flew from New York to Europe in the summer of 1933 to acquire the famous "Emperor" violin made by Guarneri del Gesù, and presented by Napoleon III to a general in the French Army. This is one of the finest Guarneri instruments in existence, is in perfect condition, and has a rich baritone quality of tone.

Though still in his twenties, Mr. Olevsky has made repeated concert tours of Europe and America, receiving the highest praise from critics in Vienna, Rome, Milan, London, Paris, Stockholm and elsewhere abroad, and in the United States from New York to Los Angeles. He has been noted especially for sparkling tone, aristocratic style, and "a musical refinement rare in young artists." An Amsterdam critic referred to him as "one of the very great ones."

DEBUT AT TEN
Mr. Olevsky was born in Germany, lived for a time in Luxembourg, then moved with his family to Argentina at the age of nine. After making his debut at ten, he toured South America for several years, appearing with orchestras and in solo recital. At twenty he came to the United States, and has since become an American citizen. When not on tour he lives in Westport, Connecticut, with his charming young wife, two small children, their beloved Schnauzer called "Scherzo", and a growing collection of books and paintings.

Although highly concentrated in his work as a concert artist, Mr. Olevsky enjoys a wide range of enthusiasms, most of which are shared with Mrs. Olevsky. Their love of fishing, boating, swimming, motoring and reading lend vitality to rich lives, and to his work as an artist.

Mr. Olevsky's assisting artist and permanent accompanist on tour is the distinguished pianist Wolfgang Rose (pronounced RO-ZAY), a nephew of composer Gustav Mahler. Born in Weimar, Mr. Rose has studied with Arthur Schnabel and Walter Gieseking, is a concert pianist in his own right, and has been assisting artist and accompanist for Mischa Elman and Alexander Kipnis.

1 Alleged inequalities

1947, some areas have enhanced considerably in value and other areas have actually reduced in value. The effect of this reflected in our new assessment, which Victoria has required be set at a 60% level of value, has meant an increase in assessments in some instances of eighteen times the old basis, whereas in other cases we have had to reduce assessments to meet the required level.

Previously we had 50 foot lots in the residential area north of Bernard Avenue and adjoining the industrial area, assessed up to $700.00. We also had 60 foot lots west of Pendozi Street and a few blocks south of the Park that have sold for over $2,000.00, which were assessed as low as $50.00. Water-front lots in the southern parts of the City selling for over $5,000.00 were assessed at $650.00. It will be seen from these instances that in order to meet the level set by the Provincial Government and also to attain a fairer degree of equality, it has been necessary to make some rather drastic changes in individual assessments.

MARKET VALUES
"However, a point I would like to emphasize is that these assessed values are still subject to change. If the market value of properties in one area changes in relation to other areas in the City, this difference will be reflected in our assessment figures. My reason for mentioning this, is that it is very difficult to forecast the influence the proposed bridge will have on certain residential properties, particularly those on Harvey Avenue. Once the bridge is in, we will be able to study the influence through sales analysis and adjust our assessments accordingly."

But the fact remains that the better you know the Great Bard's plays, the more you enjoy them. With them familiarity certainly does not breed contempt. The better you know them, the more those great speeches mean. Not so with the modern plays.

Board of trade has played a major role in development of city and the rural areas

by r p m

It was on March 23rd, 1906 that 33 business men of the young city of Kelowna gathered in Raymer's Hall to consider the formation of a board of trade "to promote the general agricultural and commercial progress of that section of the Okanagan Valley tributary to Kelowna." As a result of that meeting application was made to Ottawa and a charter was granted under the Dominion boards of trade act on June 1. On June 13th the first meeting of the new board was held and D. W. Sutherland was elected president and George C. Rose, Courier editor, was named secretary. P. B. Willits was elected vice-president and Messrs. T. Lawson, J. S. Reekie, H. W. Raymer, D. Leckie, E. Weddell, D. Lloyd-Jones, W. A. Pitcairn and E. R. Bailey were elected to the council.

At the March meeting several matters requiring the attention of such a body were mentioned. The lowering of the lake was such a subject and it has taken fifty years to get this matter settled. Freight rates and rail facilities were also mentioned and, while the latter was obtained in the late twenties, the former question has never been satisfactorily settled. It was urged that a canning factory was needed and this was accomplished quite speedily. However, one of the major requirements mentioned at the meeting can still be listed as still a major requirement. This was "protection from misrepresentation from other places." Speakers said this required immediate and vigorous action! There are those who feel it still does, but today's general attitude appears to be to simply ignore it.

their appearance at the meeting held on September 21st.

A committee was named to agitate for a lowering of the level of Okanagan Lake. It was recorded that a cannery was urgently needed.

As all local men considering leaving the state of single-blessedness had to go to Vernon to obtain a licence, pressure was brought to bear to obtain a local issuer of marriage licences. This was speedily obtained.

The board decided that a sign bearing the name "Kelowna" should be erected at the CPR wharf, and another at the CPR station at Sicamous, and that Mr. Lyons who had recently been awarded a contract to operate an across-lake ferry, should be asked to post the schedule of the ferries at both wharfs.

Ah! that item! How many times during the next fifty years was the board to take up the question of the ferries and their schedules! It became almost a monthly subject, almost having a permanent place on all board agendas!

That September meeting also undertook another interesting and significant step; one that has been ignored in the past few years but one which the merchants of the growing town considered important. They formed a committee to seek ways and means of attracting to Kelowna the trade of the communities to the south, especially their Christmas trade.

It is interesting to note that the membership fee was established back in 1906 at $5.00 per year for individuals. It hasn't been changed for fifty years. It remains at $5.00 despite the increase in all prices and the greatly expanded activities of the board.

The above quick glance at the first activities of the board serves to emphasize that throughout its fifty years its activities have been concerned with the furtherance of the industrial and agricultural life, the general improvement of transportation and communication facilities and, in general, the advancement of the interests of the district and of the city in all matters.

Transportation matters alone would fill a volume. For the better part of fifty years there has been a continuous skirmish with the transportation companies; sometimes it has been on a friendly basis, but frequently bitter words have been exchanged. In the early days the CPR steamship schedule was continually criticized and the high-handedness of the company resented. After the arrival of the trains, improved schedules and better equipment were constantly required.

Its ferry service activities alone have been enough to witness the existence of the board. As late as 1939 all movement to and from the south ceased at ten as the ferries stopped running. The board finally obtained a "late ferry" and eventually, when it obtained 24-hour service, it felt it had won a major victory, as, indeed, it had.

The board, naturally, has pressed for better highways to the north and south as well as improved local roads. Nor has it failed to lift its eyes beyond its own horizon. It was one of the first bodies to urge the construction of the Hope-Princeton and never deviated from this position. It has advocated construction of the Trans-Canada and consistently supported the submissions for a first-class highway up the Cariboo. It was the major advocate for several decades for the Narameta or east side road to the south, only abandoning this when it became apparent that a bridge across Okanagan Lake was the more probable and more satisfactory solution to the local highway problem.

Oddly enough one of the first contentious subjects the board debated was the subject of a road. This was a proposed road between the city and Okanagan Mission to replace the roundabout Swamp Road. The city council and the board of trade wanted the new road constructed along the lakeshore in order that it would provide an unsurpassed scenic drive. However many Mission residents had built their property ignoring the foreshore question and opposed the shore road because it would have gone between their houses and the shore. They were out after some bitter words on both sides; the lakeshore road unfortunately was never built.

But, in the field of transportation, steamboats, ferries and highways were not all that concerned the board. It started back in the early thirties to endeavor to establish an air field here. Finally some property was purchased in Rutland near the junction of the main road and the Belgo road and this with some privately-owned property served as a sort of air field until 1947. In the interval the entire country on both sides of the lake was scoured for a suitable site. After the war, it having become apparent that the Rutland property could not be purchased at a suit-

EDITORIAL

Half-century of service

The Kelowna Board of Trade tomorrow night will hold its fifty-first annual meeting, thus completing fifty years of service to the City of Kelowna and the rural areas of the Central Okanagan. The board was formed to promote the economic and general interests of the City of Kelowna and the rural area tributary to the city.

The membership of the board has every right to feel that the anniversary is a significant event and has every right, too, to be proud of the record of their organization and of the long list of its achievements.

When it was formed the board represented a frontier community in the wilds of British Columbia linked to civilization only by a rather casual steamboat service connecting with rail service to the coast. The picture is a vastly different one today and, while obviously the board cannot claim responsibility for the development, it can with complete justification claim that it played no small part in the development and that, without it, Kelowna today might be quite a different city than it is. The board has been something of a watchdog, a voice, for the general public. Its influence has been felt in all facets of public life. It has pointed out to the municipal and provincial, and federal governments small and large things which needed action and needed the responsible government until action was taken. Many of the major projects in this area were first conceived in the councils of the board of trade. So intimately has the board of trade been connected with community life that a history of the board could only be a history of the growing community it has served these past fifty years.

The thirty-three charter members in 1906 represented a very large proportion of the responsible and influential men of the infant city. Throughout its fifty years the board has continued to draw to itself the support of the majority of the responsible and public-spirited men of the community. It is true the board, like all organizations, has had its ups and downs, but, like all organizations, too, its influence and effectiveness depends upon the calibre of the men who are elected to guide its activities. Of all organizations, the board of trade potentially can, next to the city council, be the most influential body in the community. Its scope is large and its one policy is—or should be—to support and promote every suggestion, no matter how small, that may be of some advantage to the community.

Every firm, every man heading a business, every man operating his own business and every man interested in the advancement of this area should be a member of the board of trade. More, he should be an active member. Unfortunately there are some businessmen who stand aloof. Few of them have any real or substantial reasons for so doing. Their aloofness places them in the rather invidious position of being the Old-Men-of-the-Sea of the community, riding on the backs of the Sinbad; in other words, they are allowing others to finance and carry through projects which are directly or indirectly beneficial to themselves.

The board of trade has behind it a fifty-year history of successful achievement. The next fifty years may well produce an even more glowing record. That depends in no small measure upon the businessmen of the community during that period.

If our business leaders adopt the "let George do it" attitude it may well be that the board will never celebrate its hundredth birthday. But if our business leaders give to the board the support it deserves and if they provide the leadership which it undoubtedly will need, the centennial celebration of the board will be a momentous occasion indeed.

One achievement alone was of sufficient importance to justify the whole fifty years of the board, it was the formation of Trade Holdings Ltd., a board of trade company which constructed the old B.C. Tree fruit building. It is no exaggeration to say that if in 1939 there had not been a wide-awake, aggressive and far-sighted board of trade council Kelowna today would not be the center of the fruit trade company which constructed the old B.C. Tree fruit building. Tweedsmuir wounded while with Canadians

John Norman Stuart Burdon (second Baron Tweedsmuir of Elstfield) was born on the 25, November, 1911, and married in 1948.

He was educated at Eton and Oxford and was appointed assistant district commissioner in Uganda Protectorate in 1934. He held this post until 1936. In 1937 he joined the Hudson's Bay Company and wintered in its service at Cape Dorset, Baffin Land, 1938-39.

He served in the Second World War in the Canadian Army when he was wounded. He was mentioned in despatches twice and as well as becoming an O.B.E., was honored with the Order of Orange-Nassau with Swords. He commanded the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy and Sicily in 1942.

After the war he became rector of Aberdeen University, 1948-51, and chairman of the Joint East and Central African Board, 1950-52. In November, 1954, he became president of the Federation of Commonwealth and British Empire Chambers of Commerce.

His recreations are fishing, shooting and falconry. He is deputy chairman of the County Fire Office Limited and a director of several other companies, i.e. Paley and Company Limited, British Steamship Limited, Heet Lewis and Kahn Limited and the National Provident Institution for Mutual Life Assurance.

He is also a member of the board of British Overseas Airways Corporation and a member of the British Committee of British Newfoundland Corporation.

On his way home from Vancouver last year, Lord Tweedsmuir took part in the official opening of his father's library given to Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., and he delivered the Alma Mater lecture. At the ceremony he was given the degree of honorary doctor of law.

recent years and this without considering the substantially increased costs today.

The latest publicity effort of the board was the publication in 1950 of the booklet "Kelowna, B.C." which required reprinting in 1951 and again in 1952. It is estimated that some 40,000 copies of this attractive booklet found their way all over the world through various means.

A mere citation of the list of matters discussed by the board through its fifty years would use a newspaper page of space. Sufficient it should be to say that it was through the board that passed all city and district problems that were not strictly of a municipal nature. And, indeed, a good many of the latter were matters of concern to the board.

The board has had 39 presidents and a number of secretaries. It is interesting to note that of the 39 men who have headed the board of trade, one became premier of his province, another was a member of the legislature and one was member of parliament for two score years and was a federal cabinet minister. In addition four were mayors of Kelowna and a dozen or more were members of the city council, while many of the remainder occupied various offices such as school trustees.

No board of trade or any organization can function efficiently without a capable secretary. George C. Rose, then editor of the Courier, was the spark behind the formation of the board. He urged the step through his editorials and became the first secretary and handled the details of the charter and constitution.

In the early days the secretaries were elected annually and changed quite frequently. However some permanency was brought to the post in 1914 when D. N. McTavish was appointed secretary and remained in office until 1925 when he was succeeded by E. W. Barton. Mr. Barton retired from the office in 1946 after having occupied it for 22 years.

Presidents may come and go but secretaries who remain in office leave the stamp of their ability on

Courier files tell story of organization of board of trade

The minute book of the Kelowna Board of Trade and the files of the Kelowna Courier tell the story of the formation of the former body. The following two extracts from the Courier files tell the story of the meetings held on March 23rd and June 13th, 1906, which resulted in the formation of the organization which has played an important part in the advancement of this district.

From The Kelowna Courier,
March 23rd, 1906

A meeting was held in Raymer's Hall on Friday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Board of Trade for the Valley. Mr. D. W. Sutherland was appointed chairman and Mr. G. C. Rose secretary. The secretary read the requirements of the Dominion Act in regard to incorporation, which specify that no board can be incorporated in B.C. for a district containing less than 1,500 inhabitants. Thirty charter members must be obtained of the occupation of merchants, traders, brokers, mechanics, manufacturers, managers of banks and insurance agents. After incorporation, the board may admit persons of any occupation on recommendation of its council, which is the same as an executive committee. So that the admission of farmers and all classes of an agricultural community is thus provided for.

Mayor Raymer moved that organization be proceeded with mentioning matters for urgent consideration, amongst them lowering of the lake. Mr. DuMoulin seconded, cordially endorsing the proposal, and stating freight rates and facilities, a canning factory and protection against misrepresentation by other places as requiring vigorous action. The motion was carried unanimously.

Selection of a name caused a good deal of discussion, as it was felt Mission Valley should show in the title, but after looking at all sides of the question, it was considered there was only one short descriptive name available and it was resolved, on the motion of Messrs. DuMoulin and Raymer, to select "Kelowna Board of Trade." The district to be embraced was also a knotty problem, and it was finally resolved, on the motion of Messrs. Crowley and Stillingfleet, that definition of the district be left to the chairman and secretary, provided it shall include the west side of Okanagan Lake from Bear Creek to Gellatly.

On the motion of Messrs. Crowley and Collins, the annual subscription was fixed at $2.50 subject to ratification by the board after incorporation.

Mr. G. C. Rose was appointed permanent secretary to complete organization, and was instructed to prepare the petition for incorporation, and the thirty names required as soon as possible.

The meeting then adjourned until completion of incorporation, when a general meeting will be held to elect officers and council for the year.

For president—C. E. R. Buzett.
For vice-president—C. D. Gaddes.
For secretary—T. R. Hill.

For members of the executive council (8 to be elected)—J. D. Bews; W. T. Buss; B. W. Johnston; Barton for over four decades. Many of the organization's achievements Northw. H. A. Shaw; L. E. Stevens; H. S. Smith; D. C. Vivian; A. E. Walters.

Board officers to be elected

The board of trade at its annual meeting on Friday night will elect its officers for the coming year. In accordance with the constitution a nominating committee of past presidents have submitted a slate of nominations. However additional names may be nominated from the floor providing the written consent of the person nominated accompanies the nomination.

The past president's committee will propose the following:

For president—C. E. R. Buzett.
For vice-president—C. D. Gaddes.
For secretary—T. R. Hill.

Genial proprietor of Chez Louis came here to retire but soon wanted to get back into the restaurant business

"When people come through those doors, whether it is for a cup of coffee, or a full-course meal, I want them to enjoy themselves," said the genial new proprietor of the Chez Louis dining room, Louis Renaud.

Mr. Renaud is well equipped to see that such is the case, also, having a background in the restaurant business that dates back further than he cares to remember, and includes every phase of the work from dish washing to owning, including cooking.

Mr. Renaud came to Kelowna a year ago, after selling out in Vancouver, and bought a place where he could retire with his wife, Eleanor, and his son, Robert and daughter, Margaret and Jean. Another daughter, Isabelle, is now Mrs. E. Dixon.

He bought two horses for the children and settled down to enjoy himself, but it wasn't long until he grew restless, and started looking the town over for a place to open a restaurant.

When he heard the Modern Cafe, formerly Chapin's Restaurant, was up for sale, he looked it over carefully, and decided that the location was good, and the walls were sound. But that was about all that pleased him.

He closed the place down completely, called in the services of Peter Allen of Okanagan Mission, and went through the place from top to bottom doing a renovation job that left nothing to chance.

The only resemblance to the old place now is the street address, and the view from the front door.

DINNER PARTIES
When asked what he will specialize in, Mr. Renaud gave a winning smile, and answered, "What the people want." As an afterthought, he added, "My own particular specialty is steaks."

It is his intention also, he said to supply a good business man's lunch, cover, and to cater to dinner parties of up to 75 in his Parisian Room.

Born in Montreal, Mr. Renaud started in the restaurant business by washing dishes, working his way through every job in the business, until he took over his first cafe, after the First World War, in Montreal.

In 1920, he started to travel, working where he could, and living wherever he hung his hat, until he arrived in Vancouver, where he married and settled down.

In the last nine years he has owned Samson's Dining Room, Louis' Grill, and Palms Grill in Vancouver. During these years he has been coming to the Okanagan for the summer months.

MET DR. ATHANS

Shortly after his arrival in Kelowna, his daughter Jean, suffered a cut leg when she was thrown from her horse, and Dr. George Athans was called in to attend her.

Upon talking with Mr. Renaud, Dr. Athans found that they had so many mutual friends in Vancouver they were surprised they had never met before.

Mrs. Renaud is happy to see her husband back in harness, just as long as he "doesn't try to do too much."

Genial host and "diving doctor"

Old cronies, through mutual friends in Vancouver, Louis Renaud, left, genial host at the Chez Louis dining room, and Dr. George Athans, Kelowna's well-known "diving doctor", enjoy a cup of coffee, as they discuss old times.

Head waiter

The Chez Louis' head waiter, Frank Krysiak, shown above examining one of the menus for the Parisian Room, learned his profession in Germany, where he worked at the Hotel of the Four Seasons in Hamburg. He will be in charge of the Parisian Room and will see to the service, enjoyed by the patrons of the new dining room.

Frank Krysiak is head waiter

Head waiter at Chez Louis is Frank Krysiak, who learned his trade in Europe where he worked in the Hotel 4 Jahres Zeiten (Hotel of the Four Seasons), in Hamburg. One of his chefs, Tom Lewis, worked in the restaurant when it was under the ownership of Harry Chapin, its original owner. Employing local help, Mr. Renaud plans to be able to handle 130 people altogether at any given time, and will throw the Parisian Room open to general trade any time when the other room is filled, and when there is no private dinner doing on. He plans to offer a substantial business man's luncheon, and will serve a good, varied evening meal, with steaks as the specialty.

View of Parisian Dining Room

Soft overhead lights, subdued table lighting, and the rich mahogany panelling all combine to provide the atmosphere of relaxation and enjoyment that Louis Renaud is seeking to provide in his "Chez Louis", the new ultra-modern dining room on Bernard Avenue. Above, the Parisian Room, which will be available for parties and banquets.

"Chez Louis" dining room completely renovated

The whole atmosphere of the "Chez Louis" dining room is restful, and it's decor is in quiet good taste, with rich mahogany panelling throughout, the upper walls covered with a soft wallpaper with a French motif.

The waiting lounge is gay, with modernistic lamps, and comfortable upholstered chairs.

PARISIAN ROOM

On the left is the Parisian Room, capable of seating 75 persons, which will be shut off from the rest of the dining room when reserved for a party. Modernistic wrought iron supported tables and chairs give the maximum of room and comfort to the diner.

The main dining room, separated from the Parisian Room by a eight-foot partition, has the same type of tables down one side, and comfortable booths down the other. The lighting in both rooms is provided by delicate chandeliers, with simulated-flame bulbs, and the table lighting is provided by candles in frosted glass containers.

FOUR COOKS

The floor is softly carpeted. There is not a juke box to be found in the place!

Louis Renaud, the smiling proprietor, employs four cooks, and takes over himself for his specialty, steaks, or when he has a great deal of evening trade.

The institute also sponsored the Red Cross swimming classes, held a "blitz day" in aid of the Conquer Cancer Campaign, made a donation to the March of Dimes fund and two local children were given financial assistance for dental work.

The directors of the institute who also form the publicity committee took over the meeting and held a quiz on the work of the Women's Institute, following which refreshments were served.

LOAD ON HOSPITALS

There is no question that care of the aged and infirm is of increasing concern to all hospitals. There are imposing arguments lined up in favor of auxiliary hospitals for the latter. Foremost is that the original function of the hospital is to cure people and discharge them in quick time, which is hampered.

Firemen miss power-line services; handed first defeat of the season

Firemen, playing without the services of Pete Luknosky, Eugene Knorr, and Dennis Casey, their power-house line, went down to a decisive 8-2 defeat, one of their first this season, in Sunday's commercial league play. Bombers continued their sojourn in the cellar —dropping a 5-3 decision to Rutland Rovers.

ROCKETS 8, FIREMEN 2

Tom White opened the scoring for the Rockets at the five-minute mark, and Bob Keil came back for Rutland 15 seconds later to tie the score. One more apiece by the same opposing forwards put the game into a 2-2 tie at the end of the first.

In the second, Ed Senger came through with the Rockets' third at 4:20, and the Firemen didn't seem to have the scoring punch to reply. Frank Feist tallied a solo counter at 12:10, putting the Rockets two in front for the period.

Rockets exploded in the third, with four unanswered goals, by Williams, Laidler, Schaeffer, and Senger, three of them in the last three minutes.

Bob Keil opened the scoring for Rutland, sinking a n. unassisted counter at the six minute mark, for the only score of the period.

In the second frame, Bombers turned the tide, and Tanemura scored two, assisted both times by Laidler, to put the under-dogs in the lead going into the third.

Keil and John Urban drew majors for fighting in the frame, only two minor minors issued in the 60 minutes.

In the third, Mits Koga tied things up for the Rovers, and Ed Holitski put them ahead just before the half-way mark. Two minutes later Koide came back to tie up the game for Bombers, but the Koga brothers went to town, putting the game on ice for Rutland.

Morio Koga scored the winner ten seconds after Koide had tied it up, and Mits, assisted by Morio put the Rovers two in the lead at three-quarter way through the period.

Packers turn referees

"Now, look here fellows, things are going to be different now," say the two Packer seniors who are about to referee an intermediate game between Pentticon Vees and Kelowna Packers in the local arena.

The two team captains don't seem to be very cowed by it all. Left to right are Greg Jablonski, Packer forward; Harry Harris, Pentticon captain; Bob Keil, Kelowna captain, and Alf Pyett, Packer defenceman.

SHORT WINTER?

People who have felt some apprehension concerning the probable severity and length of the winter may be cheered a bit by the appearance of a bear at the head of Allumette island.

STIFFER PENALTIES

There are many drivers and cars which should be off the roads altogether, and the cost of being careless or lawless for the rest of the winter will be more widespread than there will be more widespread unwillingness to risk having to pay it.

Pembroke (Ont.) Observer.

Letter to sports editor

JUNIOR HOCKEY

Sports Editor,
Kelowna Courier

Dear Sir:

The writer is just one of many individuals who look forward to the time when we will be able to support and enjoy a good junior hockey league in this valley. It seems that we all like to talk of it but none of us, as yet, have done too much toward forming it. The purpose of this letter is to ask any person or firm to consider whether or not they would work to help form and control a junior hockey league in this valley.

It is a certainty that our senior hockey is on its way out. All clubs are looking forward to a deficit and if one senior club folds, it is hard to imagine that the others can continue with a three team league. This is the time for us to consider whether or not a junior hockey league would be worth the effort and the organization. The writer is one that firmly believes that we can operate a junior league with a certain degree of financial success without losing any part of our hockey entertainment. A good junior league can, and will, supply us with the competitive type of hockey entertainment, all love to see. The fans can enjoy it more because the admission price will be a lot easier on their pocketbooks.

It has been said that we do not have sufficient junior hockey talent to form a league in this valley which we must admit. However, for an illustration, we wish you to consider the fact that Kelowna this year has lost five junior players who have gone to the prairies to continue their hockey career. Vernon and Pentticon have in their own area sufficient junior players to make up a skeleton team. There are a great many junior players available from the prairies who would come here for approximately one-half or one-third of the salary we are presently paying most of the imported senior players.

I have left the most important item to the last. Our minor hockey organizations are losing control of our boys when they get beyond the mid-age group. We sincerely feel that with a good junior league operating in this valley our older teenage boys are going to have the opportunity of participating in a more healthy sport than pool hall gambling. Along with the junior league we would have increased participation by the teenage boys in our juvenile leagues. The number of boys in this valley playing juvenile hockey this year is disastrously low. The boys themselves admit that there is no encouragement to play juvenile hockey if they cannot go on further into junior without leaving the Okanagan. With a good junior league in operation here, we would certainly have more than twenty boys registered in our juvenile group as we have this year.

If you are interested in helping our group form a junior league next season please drop me a line at Box 97, Kelowna, B.C. This request is also directed to any firm, service club or person in a position to sponsor a junior hockey team in this town.

Yours very truly,
GORD SMITH

Boxla talk in the making

Lacrosse will definitely be in the picture on the Okanagan sports scene again this summer, according to present indications.

Kamloops have had their player shortage strengthened by some railroad employees' transfers, which include Cliff Sepka, and Ivan Stewart, two very well known New Westminster Salmonbellies of last year, and will be a strong entry.

Armstrong has an arena this year, and there is a possibility of them coming in, in all probability on a combined basis with Salmon Arm.

The Kelowna executive is talking over the plan of getting West Point field lacrosse team, from the famous U.S. military academy, to come through the Orchard City on their coast exhibition swing next June, but the matter is in abeyance until the annual meeting some time in March.

The sports camera

Diplomatic couriers aren't flitting back and forth between Ottawa and London but the bonds of empire have been strained by a heavy-weight boxing bout held in Toronto early this month.

If you read United Kingdom papers you'll find the British Empire champion is still Don Cockell of England. On this side of the water the B.E. champion is listed as James J. Parker, of Barrie, Ont., who has done most of his campaigning in the United States.

The mix-up springs from a dispute between the Canadian Boxing Federation and the British Boxing Board of Control.

The C.B.F. said it had received word that Cockell had retired from the ring and promptly billed the Toronto bout between Parker and the South African champion, Johnny Arthur, as a fight for the "vacant" Empire title.

Strangely enough, Parker—a bit of a nomad who has been a cowboy in western Canada, an oil worker and a telephone lineman before confining his activities to the ring—wasn't, and still isn't the Canadian heavy-weight champion. This is, if you disregard a brief episode in the same Toronto ring when he was declared the titleholder and then a few minutes later lost the crown—probably the shortest reign in the business.

The Dominion title became vacant last November when champion Earl Walls announced to The Canadian Press that he was retiring from the ring. It was expected that the C.B.F. would sanction a bout between Parker—who had last fought Walls for the title and was the most logical contender—and some other likely prospect for the crown. The match never did come off and Parker stepped into the C.B.F. version of the empire title.

Said Bill Daly, Parker's manager, after his man had earned an easy decision over Arthur over the 12-round route: "We're ready to defend that title. If Cockell wants to come out of retirement, we're ready to give him a shot."

Daly was reminded by reporters that the British Boxing Board of Control hadn't heard that Cockell had quit and that it still considered him the best in the commonwealth.

"All I know," Daly replied, "is that we're not giving back this title. We're tired of giving back titles. We did that the last time we were here. We win the title and then we give it back."

Daly was referring to the quaint Toronto situation last summer when Parker was declared winner of the Canadian title for apparently defeating Walls in a championship scrap, then lost it shortly after when it was discovered an error had been made in one of the judge's cards. The fight was declared a draw and thus Walls retained the crown.

In his most recent bouts Parker lost a decision to Cuba's Nino Valdes (ranked No. 2 challenger for Rocky Marciano's world title), drew with Walls and Ewart Potgieter (a South African grant who is seven-foot-two and weighs 320 pounds) in London and defeated Arthur.

That record should rate him a crack at Cockell. Then we'll know who really is the British Empire champion.

Local rink in ladies' curling finals

Mrs. Annie Alston's rink, of Kelowna, will represent Zone "A" in the provincial play-offs of the ladies' curling, to be played in the Orchard City next month.

Mrs. Alston won the right to go into the provincial play-offs beating Mrs. Theo. Young of Summerland, 17-10, on Monday, after tying with her on Sunday, and going into the extra game to decide the winner.

Mrs. M. Ferguson of Peachland will represent Zone "B", after successfully winning her zone play on Sunday.

Fourteen teams took part in the tournament at Peachland last weekend. Four teams from Kelowna took part.

Third for Mrs. Alston is Mrs. Myra Reigh; second, Mrs. Gertie Johnson, and lead, Mrs. Pat Brownlee.

Oilers drop fifth game

Kelowna B.A. Oilers, dropped in that Princeton has now jumped their fifth game in the last six starts to a good lead on the Oilers for on Friday night when the collar the league championship. Oilers dwelling Pentticon Omegas handed have won four and lost three. They them a 49-48 loss. The win was the first of the season for the youthful year.

As has been the case in the last few losses, Kelowna failed to click on team plays and shooting was off. In comparison the shooting skill of Bowsfield and Raptis was too much to be reckoned with as the Oilers failed to hold them down. Bowsfield hit the mark for 19 points, and Raptis for 16. Oilers failed to keep up with the fast moving Peach City team, with the result the Pentticon crew was left open to shoot time after time.

Coach Kane's strategy of not starting his first string backfired as Pentticon jumped to a quick lead. Oilers came back to take the lead and then Pentticon went ahead again to hold a 23-16 half time lead. In the second half they matched Kelowna basket-for-basket to take the six point win.

Bill Dean was the best for Kelowna with 19 points garnered on six field baskets and seven gift tosses.

The loss could be serious for the once unbeatable Kelowna quintette

It's a better life for Norman Tyndall

To learn how farming has been revolutionized in modern times, listen to Norman Tyndall, of Richmond Hill, Ontario.

"Nowadays, one man can produce as much food as eight men could—less than a generation ago," says Mr. Tyndall. "Machines like the new tractors, balers and combines have lightened our job tremendously. And of course, agricultural science is adding to our know-how with results that can be seen in fields all over the country."

As Mr. Tyndall knows, there have also been important developments in life insurance—which help him as a family man.

Today, for instance, there is a wider choice of life insurance plans than ever before. So men like Mr. Tyndall have a more flexible way of meeting their own families' special needs—needs that keep changing over the years. The life underwriter who serves people today is a key man in this planning. And he, too, has changed. Modern training methods have made him a more efficient counsellor on the many different uses of life insurance.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies in Canada have progressed to meet the changing needs of people in all walks of life.

Who stabbed the tab?

Jimmy Dunn, president of the CAHA, has made the statement that they are still picking up the tab for bills incurred by the Vees when they were in Europe last year. Clem Bird, president of the Vees, has cuttingly retorted that the only financial difficulties incurred during the trip came as the result of mismanagement by the CAHA, and sent a cable to Mr. Dunn asking him to clarify his unfair remarks.

When two such diametrically opposed statements are made, somebody has to be wrong, and if it is the CAHA president, he should be taken heavily to task, since he is working an injury on the name of the fine team who, backed by their small Valley community, restored the good name of Canada.

The name of hockey had gone down the previous year as the result of the weak showing by the Toronto Marlboros, the CAHA's unpopular choice as the team to represent Canada. The pill was made more bitter to swallow by virtue of the fact that it was Russia who administered the beating.

When Penticton, as the previous year's Allen Cup winners, were chosen to go last year, the community rallied behind the team and raised $10,000 to help defray expenses. Some donations were also received from various parts of Canada, and the German Ice Federation paid a large part of the shot.

According to Vees secretary Jack Petley, the Vees were forced to pay the salaries for replacements Jack Taggart and Jim Middleton, when the CAHA refused to pay them. There was also a matter of some $650, over the allotted amount put up by the CAHA, and the Penticton club had to pay this also. There was a bill for certain charges connected with plane travel that was presented by the CAHA, but aside from this the Vees' executive say they left Europe clean.

If they did, I say again that Mr. Dunn should be severely reprimanded. The sport is ailing enough without having cancerous growths around the heart of it.

Diamond rumbles

With the hockey schedule still just a little more than two-thirds of the way through, the men who follow the diamond game are starting to get restless, and next Sunday afternoon is the annual meeting of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League.

The club has its troubles last year, some of them the troubles naturally attendant upon a purely amateur organization of its nature, and some of them just due to apathy on the part of executive and fans alike. Attending the games was like an afternoon visit to the morgue in some instances.

There were some tireless workers, however, and I take off my hat to them. To the rest of those people who didn't take part in helping boost the game, how about it this year?

There are a lot of good ball players in town, several who weren't around last year, and there isn't any reason, other than support and organization, why this year shouldn't be a big year in the city's baseball history.

All it takes is some of you people, who will undoubtedly spend the rest of the year criticizing, to turn out and get in your licks early in the season, with some real constructive assistance.

The expression "it isn't like the old days", can be made a pleasant one by making the present better than the past.

Anyone for judo?

Was talking with Eddie Sakamoto, one of the judo instructors, the other day, and he told me they are still short of the necessary seniors to make the forthcoming judo tournament in Vernon a big success from the Kelowna standpoint.

There are about 20 juniors, boys 14 and under, and they are doing very well, but the Judo Club would like to see some more boys 17 and over, since that is the age for competition.

A boy starting now, with no previous training, might be able to go into novice competition provided he had good physical conditioning and proper muscular control and balance to begin with. It would be a close one, however, since there is only three weeks until the February 18 competition.

Judo, as it is taught in the local club, is the milder form of the sport. There are no arm locks or strangle holds taught, and the emphasis is on skilled technique, rather than inflicting punishment.

The club itself is a credit to the men who built it, and we are indeed fortunate to have such an organization in our community. All the work on their club house was voluntary, and the tuition fee is small, with instructors on hand every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

With no gyms in town available to the general public, the club offers a splendid chance to a young man to get some wonderful body building exercise, and learn a fascinating sport.

It's all amateur, and the instructors, six of them, are all holders of the Black Belt, the highest award for judo achievement. How lucky can young Kelowna get?

Another bouquet

I'm getting positively sticky, the way I am tossing around the banana oil, but it just isn't possible to keep quiet about the way the executive and players alike of the Packers and Canadians dug in to create a fund for injured players, and to aid the little community of Grinrod to build a swimming pool to keep their kids out of the river.

There have been a number of drownings up Grinrod way, since the kids have nowhere handy to swim, except to swim in the Shuswap, right off a bridge that is part of the highway. This is dangerous, and the community is taking steps to dig a pool and get rid of this menace to their children. When the two directors heard of it, they agreed to make a donation from the proceeds of an exhibition game toward this worthy cause.

The game itself, which was played in Vernon last night, was

Kamloops Elks too good for our Packers; short-handed local team beaten 6-2

Kamloops Elks' sure passing plays proved to be too much for a short-handed Packers team in Kelowna on Tuesday night, as they walked through to a 6-2 victory.

Coach Moe Young was holding down a defence spot, in place of Alf Pyett, who has a touch of flu, and Bill Jones was side-lined with a "Charley Horse" received in the last game against the Elks, in Kamloops.

Defence man Jim Hanson scored his first goal of the season, and Brian Roche continued his attempt to march to supremacy in goals scored, tying up the game in the first period.

Bill Swarbrick played an outstanding checking game for the Packers, and Dave Gatherum made some sensational stops. For Kamloops, the line of Hryciuk, Millard and Evans shone, Evans netting two, Millard and Hryciuk one apiece.

EVANS SCORING
Evans opened the scoring at the 34 second mark, when Millard shot a hard one, and Gatherum went down. The puck got loose, and Evans jumped on it, rapping it in.

Hanson tied things up 34 seconds after that, shooting from about 15 feet out, right through Moog's legs, after he had done the splits.

Evans came back for the Elks at 9:01, on a power play, taking Millard's pass from close in, and taking two stick-handling steps, before slipping it past Gatherum.

In the second, the Packers defence started to fall apart, and rush shots rained through with impunity. Stout work by Gatherum in the nets, and Laidler and Young on defence accounted for many goals averted, as the Elks poured in three unanswered ones.

Kassian earned the first one with the Packers one short, just six seconds to go on Laidler's penalty, when he caught Gatherum on the other side of the net, and shot it into the open side from a scramble. Both clubs were one short, with Hanson and Slater in the box, when Millard scored on a two-man passing play with Hryciuk.

THIRD PERIOD
In the third frame, Evans took the puck off Hanson's stick when he was trying to clear, and flipped it across to Hryciuk who raced in for the score, at the 5:19 mark. The remainder of the period was scoreless, although Elks had to kill two penalties.

Referee Neilson's call for holding on Swarbrick proved to be unpopular, since Kassian had been skating along side him for a good twenty feet, his stick hooked around his upper arms. The crowd started a chant against the Vernon ref, that lasted for several minutes after play had resumed.

SUMMARY
First period: Kamloops, Evans, (unass.) 00:34. Kelowna, Hanson (Young) 1:08. Kamloops, Evans (Millard, Hryciuk), 9:01. Kelowna, Roche (Middleton, Kaiser), 18:13. Penalties: Hornby, Turner, Hanson.

Second period: Kamloops, Kassian (Conners), 10:15. Kamloops, Millard (Hryciuk, Conway), 14:29. Kelowna, Slater (Conners), 14:29. Penalties: Turner, Hanson (2).

Third period: Kamloops, Hryciuk (Evans) 5:19. Penalties: Kassian, Hryciuk, Swarbrick.

Big Jim Middleton and wing-mate Brian Roche, Packers peripherals, continue to hold down third and fourth spots respectively, according to the latest statistics released by league statistician, Bill Padley of Kamloops.

Billy Hryciuk is holding down second spot, with a one-point lead over Middleton, and a two-point lead over Roche, and Penticton Vee-man coach Grant Warwick is in top spot, 16 points ahead of Hryciuk.

It's a slim margin between goalie Ivan McLelland, in top spot, and Packers net man Dave Gatherum, with Vernon's Hal Gordon tied for second spot. Kamloops' Don Moog is in bottom spot, but only by one tenth of a goal per game average.

In order to give the crowd a good show, the executive undertook to put on a game themselves, in between periods, which was a riot.

This is the sort of thing that gives everyone in the community a chance to pitch in and help, and gives the fans a feeling of close alliance with the hockey club.

Kelowna ski club names committee heads for February 12 jump meet

Verne Ahrens has been appointed chairman of the forthcoming Canadian Amateur Ski Association sanctioned jump meet to be held at the Black Mountain ski hill on Sunday afternoon, February 12.

With the prevailing snow conditions and the re-vamped jump hill, competitors will have every opportunity of making better than average jumps and it is anticipated that a capacity crowd will be present to witness the spectacular affair.

Working with Verne Ahrens will be a sub-committee to be named by him. Secretary is Bernie Ludubee. Other committees are hill captain, being done to provide clockwork service and perfect timing in running the entire show. Programs are to be printed and it is planned to install a P.A. system.

Kelownians are fortunate to have an opportunity to see the best in jumpers from the province and points in Washington.

Ski trails

By JUNE BURMASTER

Last Sunday close to 50 novice skiers took advantage of the ski school being sponsored at the ski bowl by one of the local sports goods stores with Verne Ahrens as instructor. Next Sunday Mrs. Ahrens will be on the job assisting Verne with his large classes. This is an excellent opportunity for anyone who wishes to take up skiing to get off on the right foot by taking a few free lessons from qualified instructors.

Over and above the novice skiers there must have been another 50 enthusiasts on the hill. Some actually skiing, but a few working over on the jump hill. Not only that, but there were several visitors who came up either to watch Oshawa, celebrate their Christmas friends or relatives skiing or simply

CHECK CARS
A close check of cars entering on the ski bowl road will be necessary this year to discourage motorists with smooth tires from trying to make the hill. Chains or snow tires are necessary to ascend the hill and every car so equipped is being promised parking space either immediately adjacent to the bowl or just slightly below. Road patrols are being set up to take care of emergencies so there should be no reason why anyone wishing to see the jump meet will find any difficulty in reaching the top. Ample sanding will be done to ensure the best of driving conditions on the road.

TRADE LICENCE
W. J. Tymchuk, a wood dealer from outside the city, has been granted a trade licence by city council.

to have a look at the bowl. For the first time this year the canteen ran out of supplies before the day was over.

Biggest news around the ski club recently was the recent marriage of John Layton and the forthcoming marriage of Dick Stewart, club president. Dick has chosen February 11 as his big day. He'll be taking the big "leap" the day before the jump.

Speaking of the jump, the club executive is holding a special meeting tonight at the Cascade packing-house office to finalize plans for the jump which will be staged on February 12 at the ski bowl. Committees are being lined up and there will be a job for everyone on that don't overlook the canteen; it's essential. When volunteering for jobs, it is to be a popular spot particularly just before and immediately after the jumping events.

Every club needs new blood once in a while and on the publicity end the Kelowna Ski Club is going to feel the effects of Wes Mitchell's influence as publicity chairman for the jump meet. Already he has planned his whole attack in making posters, set up newsletters building up Kelowna as the skiing centre of the interior. With his continued drive and the addition of a new tow up at the bowl next year, the club has possibilities for even greater expansion.

But the big deal now is the jump meet and every person who drives a car with snow tires or chains is assured that he will reach the bowl. Ample parking space will be provided. This year, however, it will be necessary to turn away all cars with smooth tires because of the inconvenience to the driver as well as to other motorists.

Plan now to load up your car and come out to the Black Mountain Ski Bowl—that's two weeks from this Sunday.

Another fact that merchants like about newspaper advertising is that they can buy it on the basis of known values that are just as definite as the measures of weight and quality that apply to merchandise which they handle.

Less than five per cent of World War I vets who bought land under soldier's settlement board, still own property, says Legion head

Less than five percent of World War I veterans who settled on land under the Soldiers' Settlement Board, are still in possession of property today, P. F. Hilborn, president of the Canadian Legion, informed the local branch at its annual meeting.

Mr. Hilborn said a similar situation is being faced with World War II vets. He pointed out the Canadian Legion had been successful in getting the federal government to implement legislation whereby ex-servicemen could purchase small holdings.

"These small holdings were designed for the veteran to supplement his earnings, but under recent re-assessment, the property is being changed into 'residential' districts. In some cases, the assessment has been doubled, and through higher taxes the veteran is giving up his holding," Mr. Hilborn declared.

LOSE INVESTMENT
For this reason, the original intent of the government is being defeated, and the ex-servicemen is losing his original investment, he maintained.

In appealing for increased membership, the speaker said unless the Legion is strong enough numerically to protest, "We shall be unable to safeguard the rights of the veteran." He asked that each member bring a new member to the next meeting.

"Remember it is at the branch level that our strength lies. All branches in British Columbia are putting on a power drive to bring home to the non-member veteran how vital it is that we should have a strong Legion, so that it is alert, at all times to press home the rights of the returned men and women. We are all aware of the various excuses given, as to why they don't belong. Usually they are untrue or they are totally ignorant of what the Legion stands for. But with intelligent reasoning these excuses can be set aside, if it is pointed out, especially to the second world war veteran, that had it not been for the Legion, he most certainly would not have received the benefits which he received and his rehabilitation would indeed have been a very poor one.

"CHIP" ON SHOULDER

"There is not one of these veterans who did not receive some benefit under the terms of the veterans' charter. There is also an entirely erroneous impression that the Legion is just a place to drink. To correct this, by far, the majority of Legion members do not regularly use the Legion for just social drinking and all members are equally welcome into the branch, regardless of whether they indulge or not. There may be a feeling that non-members or particularly, lapsed members, may have a "chip" on their shoulders that the branch is not run in the way they themselves feel it should be run and maybe they are right. But surely, in all fairness, the remedy lies with themselves by coming in and making their influence felt and taking an active interest in the running of the branch.

"I am sure that any just or real grievances will be quickly changed, so let's think the matter over very seriously and fulfill the moral obligation that we all owe the Legion. Let us all be big enough to forget any real or imaginary wrongs and as we teamed up in the prosecution of the war, let us renew that spirit of comradeship and our duty to our fallen comrades, the disabled and the more unfortunate who really need your help. Branch 28 will be more than pleased to welcome you in and especially glad will we be to welcome back our old members," he concluded.

Glenmore assessor explains how reassessment of area carried out

GLENMORE — A meeting of the Bankhead Heights Association was held recently at the home of president A. B. Postle. Glenmore Municipal Assessor Sam Pearson attended, and explained the basis of the reassessment conducted during the fall of 1955 by the staff of the provincial assessment commissioner's office. Mr. Pearson enumerated the various steps the assessors took, and explained the formula for arriving at the appraised values of the land and improvements within the municipality.

The work done on the VLA park in Bankhead during the past year was outlined and proposed projects for the coming year put to the meeting. Discussion followed on the necessity of fire protection, and the possibility of a sewerage system within the residential district.

Some veterans felt that a sewerage system would ultimately be necessary as the property particularly in the Bankhead subdivision would eventually reach a saturation point.

The association went on record as not being in favor of amalgamating with Glenmore Ratepayers Association, but would consider supporting any resolutions put forth which would benefit the district as a whole.

Benvoulin PTA holds meeting

BENVOLIN — The Benvoulin PTA meeting was held recently in the Benvoulin school with 17 members in attendance, to listen to a short and interesting address on "Discussion" by Walter Goodland, representative of the National Film Board. He told his audience that "Discussion" was as old as mankind.

"Today most people do not do their own thinking but let others do it for them. Discussion produces thinking and usually makes for better friends. If we don't talk about things and discuss them with others, we do not learn; so more and more group discussions are being encouraged for adult education. Usually secret ballots are taken after a discussion, thus giving the reaction of the people present toward these discussions."

He then showed two films, "Sailors of the Queen" and "Sociable six to noisy nine", the latter being discussed by those present and a secret ballot taken.

First Lutheran scene of nuptials

Beneath a canopy of pink and white streamers, caught up in the centre with a single white bell and to the sides by a cluster of smaller bells, Caroline Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ochs, 912 Lawson Ave., exchanged wedding vows with Mr. George Owen Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Owen Cooper, of Hawarden, Saskatchewan. Rev. A. F. Reiner officiated in the double ring ceremony, which took place last Saturday afternoon in First Lutheran Church.

Bouquets of daffodils and white chrysanthemums and a potted fern added the floral touch at the altar while single red roses and white streamers marked the pews.

Simplicity was the keynote in the designing of the bride's floor-length gown of silk brocade with its strapless bodice topped with a bolero jacket featuring a pert stand-up collar and lily point sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a pearl and rhinestone studded Juliet pancake hat and she carried a white Bible crusted with two white gardenias with trailing ribbons and loveknots of rosebuds. She was given in marriage by her father.

MAID-OF-HONOR
Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was her sister, Miss Lorraine Ochs, while the groom's sister, Miss Darlene Cooper, and Miss Beverly Marshall were bridesmaids. They from Vancouver, Miss Anne Boyar were gownned alike in taffeta of ice blue, light blue and medium blue respectively. All were designed with scoop neckline and three quarter length sleeves. From the dropped waistline the skirt of the maid of honor's gown fell softly to ankle length, the first bridesmaid's to mid-thigh, and the second bridesmaid's to cocktail length. Each of the attendants wore a white not accessories and a white gardenia pinned to the bodice.

SUPPER RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, a reception for about 70 guests was held in the banquet room at Clancy's Grill. For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a two place turquoise and black check afternoon frock accented with a corsage of tawny roses and the wore black accessories.

Centering the bride's lace-covered table was a three tiered wedding cake, decorated by Mr. Alfred Rut— a friend of the bride's family. It was flanked on either side by white tapers in silver candlesticks. Mr. Wilson Nicolle proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Telegrams from Hayward, Winnipeg and Edmonton were read by Mr. Gerald Cooper.

Junior Hospital Auxiliary names various committee heads for Benefit Cabaret

Plans for the Junior Hospital Auxiliary's annual Benefit Cabaret to be held in the Legion Hall on Friday, February 17, are well underway. With great care and foresight, Mrs. Frank Hyland and Mrs. S. D. Waker, convener of the affair, have chosen their committee heads.

Mrs. H. M. Trueman is in charge of decorating the hall while Mrs. Bev. Trump will begetify the tables. These two ladies have gathered under their banner the artistic blood of the auxiliary. Mrs. W. M. Underwood has consented to look after table reservations—always a big job—and an entertaining program is assured with Mrs. J. C. McLaughlin in charge.

Mrs. W. J. O'Donnell has charge of the tickets. This task is a difficult one since the demand is always greater than the supply. Mrs. W. V. Hillier will once again be on the job to see that all those wishing to have their pictures taken, may do so. And lastly, the important question of food is in the hands of the culinary experts, with Mrs. Gordon Bennett as head chef. Publicity is in the hands of Mrs. W. J. Archibald.

With this line-up and the wonderful spirit of co-operation and hard work for which the Junior Hospital Auxiliary has always been famous, the 1956 Benefit Cabaret cannot fail to be another outstanding success.

Former counsellor at industrial school gives address on juvenile delinquency

RUTLAND — The Rutland Par- seemed to have no bearing on the ent-Teachers Association held their first meeting of the new year last Wednesday in the cafeteria room of the high school. Around 100 were present. Membership convener Mrs. Dan Jaud reported there were now 83 paid up members on the roll. The meeting made plans to hold a supper on Saturday, February 18, to be prepared and served by the men, the main item on the menu to be "Hungarian goulash". Final arrangements were made for a guest speaker, Mr. Kerr, who was to give an informative and interesting talk on juvenile delinquency. Having served as a counsellor at the B.C. Boys Industrial School (BISCO) for several years, the speaker was well qualified to talk on the subject. Boys from ages 10 to 18 are received at this school. Mr. Kerr stated that there was no such thing as a child being born "bad". Experts are divided on the question of mental being a factor in juvenile delinquency. Comic books, radio programs, TV, etc.,

President reviews activities of board during past year

The wise variety of activities of the Kelowna Board of Trade during the past year are outlined briefly in the annual report of W. B. Hughes-Games, the retiring president. Mr. Hughes-Games has touched upon certain of the highlights of the board, leaving unmentioned many of the small items which in the aggregate consume much time and are important to community life.

Mr. Hughes-Games report to the general membership of the board follows:

In looking through the minutes of the thirty-three meetings of the executive, and the four general meetings, one is amazed at the enormous numbers of things dealt with in the course of a year, only the highlights of which can be included in an annual report.

The most gratifying news of the year was the calling of the contract for the approaches to a lake crossing. Though some were disappointed that a suspension bridge was found impracticable, the floating crossing decided upon will entail about one-half the cost. With the money saved by less capital expenditure on ferries, plus tolls, plus promised subsidy, this crossing should pay for itself within a reasonable time, and then, it is hoped, become a free crossing. The cost and delay of crossing the lake has always been a commercial hardship to Kelowna business. The Premier commended the Kelowna Board of Trade on their work in furthering this major objective.

The board co-operated with the city council in getting the Lions Football Club to make Kelowna their training headquarters, and also assisted in entertaining their directors.

The biggest disappointment the board had was in connection with the interior of B.C. Income Tax Office. Kelowna has long been the financial centre of the Valley. It is headquarters for B.C. of fruit and vegetable selling agencies; is headquarters for two firms of chartered accountants operating throughout the interior, and home of the largest interior trust company. All this had been recognized by the government, with Kelowna actually being named in the 1946 act as a branch office to be established. Later, we were advised that the actual establishment had been postponed due to shortage of staff. It is now announced that the office will be established at Penticton. Somewhere along the line there would seem to have been a betrayal.

During the year the board actively supported the application for a liquor licence by the Eldorado Arms Hotel. The people of the South Kelowna district, where this well-known hostelry is located, had overwhelmingly voted in favour of it. The hotel is catering to a high class trade of visitors from all over Canada and the United States, and this licence was a vital matter to the people who had invested so much in the undertaking. However, because the riding as a whole did not vote in favour, this licence has been denied. In the opinion of this board, this is an injustice.

During the year the board entertained, in various ways, the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association quarterly meeting, the B.C.F.A. convention, the Premier and five members of his cabinet and their wives, with mayors, presidents of boards of trade, railway and other distinguished visitors at a special annual dinner meeting. Teen Town convention, 135 visiting tourists from the prairies, restau banquet to contestants, and others.

The board again participated in the Washington State Apple Blossom Festival in Wenatchee, contributed towards local high school curators participating in the B.C. annual bazaar, the high school band's visit to the Calgary Stampede, and also a special Kelowna float in the Grey Cup parade at Vancouver.

The board has encouraged the development of the 4H Club in this district, sponsoring a banquet at which the annual awards were made. The board executive is of the opinion that this movement should be encouraged in every way.

The board has been active in urging the provincial government to complete Highway 97 as a first class road, and much work has, and that same be extended to the north, and a further extension of the Mission Road has been made. The board has recommended that the Carmi-Beaverdell road be made in good all year-round road, and that same be extended to the north, and a further extension of the Mission Road has been made.

From The Kelowna Courier, June 21, 1956

The organization meeting of the Board of Trade was held in Raymer's Hall on Wednesday, June 13. There was a good attendance, 24 out of the 33 charter members being present. Mr. D. W. Sutherland took the chair as temporary chairman.

The secretary, Mr. G. C. Rose, reported the charter of incorporation had been received from the Secretary of State, and that it was now incumbent to elect officers for the year and frame a constitution and by-laws. The meeting then proceeded to elect officers. Messrs. J. S. Reekie, G. C. Rose and D. W. Sutherland were nominated for president, but the two first-named withdrew in favour of Mr. Sutherland, and, on motion, the nomination being seconded, he was declared elected unanimously, a result which was greeted with applause. Messrs. Weddell, Pitcairn and Willis were nominated for vice-presidents and as their supporters would not permit any of them to withdraw, a ballot became necessary and resulted in the election of Mr. Willis. For secretary, Mr. G. C. Rose was nominated, and there being no other nominations, he was elected.

In order to elect the eight members of executive council ballots were distributed, but the list of members was slowly read over by the secretary, so that a choice could be made. The following gentlemen were chosen: Messrs. T. Lawson, J. S. Reekie, H. W. Raymer, D. Leckie, E. Weddell, D. Lloyd-Jones, W. A. Pitcairn and E. R. Bailey.

A debate arose on the amount at which to place the membership fee. A motion by Messrs. Leckie and Lawson fixing the subscription at $2.50 per annum received 10 votes against 14 for an amendment proposed by Messrs. Weddell and Reekie, putting it at $5, at which amount the fee was definitely set.

The meeting then adjourned, and a meeting of the executive council was immediately held at which arrangements were made to draft a constitution and bylaws.

Life memberships were presented to E. M. Carruthers and G. A. McKay, who had 40 years or more as board members, and an honorary membership was presented to A. K. Loyd, as a tribute to his outstanding service to the fruit industry.

NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

"LET'S DO IT NOW" CAMPAIGN IS IN FULL SWING

We are calling on the Homeowners in Kelowna and District to institute now their plans for repairing, remodelling, redecorating and rebuilding, instead of the traditional time of Spring and Summer. Tradesmen and laborers will all be fully employed by then. You will be doing yourself and the community a service if you will have as much done now as possible.

Men will be fully employed in the spring and numerous householders may be inconvenienced and delayed by the shortage of labor. Our aim is to avoid this situation, by creating work for the men while they are available.

If you are planning to build a playground, install a new bathroom, etc., etc., or just require a man for handy work, call us now! Men are available now who will not be, next spring.

For further information, for advice or help in securing workers, please call the National Employment Service
